A NOTABLE WEEK

In Georgia Politics Will Be the One Beginning Today.

THE BIG MEETING AT DOUGLASSVILLE,

Where the Democrats and Third Partyites Will Engage in Pitched Battle.

This week will be a memorable one in the history of Georgia politics, and it will be long remembered as a week of stirring scenes and uneventful political activity.

In every section of the state the battle between the organized and unorganized democracy and the third party will be waged with more spirit and energy than ever before. As a matter of fact the little skirmishing about over the state will pale into insignificance when compared to the big red letter events that this week holds in store for the political world.

To a man up & tree, this comedy drama in politics is surprisingly interesting. To a man up a tree the scramble for first place in the third party is supremely monotonous.

Most important of the big battles of this week is the all-round, rough-and-tumble battle at Douglassville on Wednesday.

The eyes of the state are fixed on that meeting. Thousands of people will be there to witness and take part in the fun.

Old-Time Stump Speaking.

This Douglassville meeting signalized a return of the old days of stump speaking. Since Georgia has been in the complete control of the democracy there has been no stump speaking of the old-time kind, when the boys would gather, listen to their favorites speak and interest would soon rise to fever heat.

But now that the third party threatens to wrest the political control of the state from the hands which have held it so long, a return of the stump speaking of the old ante-bellum days may be expected.

Great arrangements have been made for the notable gathering at Douglassville on the 13th. Hon. Joseph S. James, the leading spirit in the affair, will see to it that all, be they democrats or third partyites, get a fair hearing.

The list of speakers is about completed, and a few of the galazy could not be brought forward by the third partyites. Colonel Livingston, who has proven himself a lion in debate; Congressman Moses, silver-tongued and fearless; Mr. John Temple Graves, the finished orator; Mr. Hoke Smith, Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, Hon. Joseph S. James and probably Governor Northern will be the democratic speakers. Colonel Post, Colonel Ellington and two or three other third party men will speak for the third party.

Colonel Peck is not expected to be present. He states that he will be engaged in court at that time. A special train will be run out from Atlanta, and a great many people are expected to go from here.

Tuesday at Jonesboro.

Tuesday a rally almost as large as the Douglassville meeting promises to be, will be held in Jonesboro.

Colonel Livingston, Mr. W. Y. Atkinson, Mr. Hoke Smith, Judge George Hillyer and several other prominent speakers will address a mass meeting of Clayton's democrats.

The third partyites have sent word that they will expect a division of time and a number of their orators are looked for.

The democratic orators will be prepared for their task, getting old-time political battle will be waged. Jonesboro has furnished some notable orators and meetings and the one tomorrow will be quite in keeping with the others that old Clayton has had.

The people's party men of Clayton hold a mass meeting today in Jonesboro to effect permanent organization.

The democratic party will hold a big meeting at Calistoga next Saturday.

Another event of importance in alliance and third party circles for this week will be the meeting of the executive committee of the "state alliance" on Wednesday next. That committee will meet for the express purpose of deciding upon the advisability of sending out state lectures. Several county alliances have already asked that this be done.

Some think this a shrewd scheme of the third partyites to have the alliance bear the campaign expenses of that party.

Colonel Livingston Will Talk.

One day this week there will be a meeting of the board of control of The Southern Alliance Farmer in Atlanta. This board is composed of Colonel L. F. Livingston, Hon. M. V. Clegg and Senator G. H. Ellington. These gentlemen were chosen by the state alliance to control the policy of The Southern Alliance Farmer. Somehow the paper has got under the thumb of Colonel Peck, and his son-in-law writes editorials to order the third party without consulting the wishes of the state alliance.

Now Colonel Peck doesn't like this and proposes to call a halt. Mr. Gowan is of like opinion with Colonel Livingston and it wouldn't be surprising if they bring the editor of the paper up with a jerk and take the paper out of the hands of those who have been making it a political organ.

POLITICS IN CARROLL:

Congressman Moses Has Made a Change in the Situation.

Carrollton, Ga., April 10.—(Special)—The political pot is boiling in earnest in Carroll now. Third partyism had a black eye Tuesday, and the democrates are turning their attention to democratic politics. It is understood that Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, of Newnan, will be a candidate for Hon. C. L. Moses' seat in congress. Mr. Atkinson hasn't announced, neither will he say he is not, nor will he not be a candidate. This county is practically solid for Mr. Moses. The fact is, your correspondent does not know a half dozen men who will support Mr. Atkinson. The majority of the democrates are enthusiastic for Moses. Your correspondent understands that Mr. Atkinson has a few followers in Heard, but that Mr. Moses is the choice of a large majority of the democrates of Heard.

In Coweta it will be pretty evenly divided, with the chances in favor of Moses. Everything points to a triangular fight for control of the state with a fourth for the democracy. Gowan of Talbot, as the nominee for the people's party and R. I. O'Kelly, of Grantville, as the republican candidate. The republicans speak of Walter Johnson and Bob Milner in connection with the republican nomination, but it seems that a majority favor O'Kelly.

Watch the "fussy fourth" this fall.

The Democracy of Clarke.

Athens, Ga., April 10.—(Special)—The democracy of Clarke county held a grand rally at the opera house here last night, and inspired by the patriotic speeches of Major Clark Lewis, the "Dixie" band, and the thrilling strains of "Dixie" by the band, renewed their allegiance to the old party and cheered its principles to the echo.

Hon. W. Y. Atkinson was introduced as a past master by Captain W. B. Burrows as the commanding-in-chief of the army and navy of the state democracy, and made a ringing speech, which was most enthusiastically received.

Dissatisfaction in Fort Gaines.

Fort Gaines, Ga., April 10.—(Special)—The executive committee of Clay county, at its session yesterday, ordered a primary election on April 30th for delegates to the gubernatorial and congressional conventions. As the committee was composed mainly of alliance men, and no effort was made to purge it of third partyites, there is much dissatisfaction among the democrats, especially at the early date of selecting delegates to the congressional convention. In effect opposition to the action of the executive committee of the district. The streets this evening are flooded with dodgers calling a grand rally of the democrats at the courthouse Monday night.

LIVINGSTON AT CONVERS,

and went on talking in praise of Colonel C. C. Post, the leader, and the other third party men.

"Ah," said he, "they may cry us down, but all big reformations start with small beginnings like this one. God is with us, and I wouldn't be connected with any party if I knew God's blessing did not rest on it." (Silent applause from the sixteen third partyites who had been initiated in the forenoon.)

"But who's the daddy of this third party, anyhow? Nobody but Colonel Livingston. He used to make independent speeches all over the state."

Livingston: "I never did in my life!" (Applause.)

Post: "You did, for I heard you a dozen times."

Colonel Livingston laughed; so did the crowd.

"Oh, I see you've got that circular," said Peck, pointing to a paper in Livingston's hand. "I signed it—yes, and I would sign it again."

Colonel Livingston's chin whiskers curved upward as he burst into a spell of laughter, and the crowd laughed again, with what the circular said.

Colonel Peck went on with his speech, repeating his praise of Post and the other leaders. Now and then his sixteen third partyites would applaud him, and the next minute he would make some remark, as, "God save us from such men as Crisp," and the crowd would hiss and murmur their discontent at such utterances.

He pointed into the banking system and hissed into the democratic house for not passing a silver bill.

Colonel Livingston Again.

When Colonel Livingston took the stand again he said:

"Peek tells us that the Lord is with them in this third party. Well, I have always heard that the Lord takes care of fools and drunkards, and may be on the foot basis Colonel Peck draws his conclusions. But I don't think my God would take care of an organization or party by putting, or allowing to be put, an atheist or an infidel in the lead of it, and that is what Post is."

"Here, I'm the daddy of the party. Well, let's read this little circular and see. Here it is: (Colonel Livingston read a call for a meeting of the alliance men of Georgia to organize a third party in this state. It was signed by W. L. Peck and A. G. Daniel.)

"There's the third party's pedigree," he said, and the crowd laughed and applauded.

Colonel Livingston again touched upon the third party convention at St. Louis, saying it was not in sympathy with the southern alliance.

He suggested that the alliance men go in the democratic party. They were doing well enough, controlling Georgia's state government, and sent out their men from Georgia to congress. They could never do so well in the third party. They were selling their birth-right for faithless promises.

He again showed that he had been consistent throughout and was endorsed by overwhelming applause.

All in it was decidedly a splendid victory for Livingston and democracy.

People who gathered on the streets afterwards said it was the best speech they ever heard. They compared it to speeches of Toombs, of Cobb and of Speer for comparison of ability, and they acknowledged the truth of every argument. Many third party men were converted on the spot.

Colonel Livingston will also show the danger of splitting up the alliance scared them. He said there were only 25,000 names on the alliance books now, when there had been 65,000 when he left the presidency.

This was a clincher and brought conviction.

The Meeting in Talbot.

Talboton, Ga., April 10.—(Special)—On Tuesday last handbills reading as follows were scattered broad cast over the county. A mass meeting of the people will be held in the opera house in Talboton on the 13th instant for the purpose of the third party convention.

Signed by J. A. Cook, W. G. Gorman, C. Adams, D. J. Carter, W. G. Gorman.

Colonel Peck, who was known all over the state in political circles. Mr. Cosby was until the last meeting a member of the democratic executive committee; the other two are well known farmers. In response to this call exactly 134 men assembled in the opera house at half past 10 o'clock yesterday morning. On this number about three hundred and fifty, the third party convention.

Captain Elmer responded to the toast, "Our Distinguished Guest," making many complimentary references to Mr. Byrum.

Mr. Bynum was called on, and spoke at some length. He touched upon the presidential outlook. He said he had his personal views as to who was the safest man for the democracy to put up. He believed the northwest would put up Cleveland to the northeast.

Mr. H. Richardson, Mr. B. M. Blackburn, and Judge George Hillyer made short speeches.

They each made references to the third party, and said that the energies of the democracy should be directed toward crushing the movement in its incipiency.

The Third Party in Hall.

Gainesville, Ga., April 10.—(Special)—The third party of Hall county had organized yesterday. Hon. Oliver Clark was elected permanent chairman and L. N. Thompson secretary. Hon. Tom Winn was present and spoke. On motion of Major John Longstreet, his course in congress was endorsed. The mass meeting elected four men to represent an organization of Carroll's alliance men and they have gone to work in dead earnest against the third party.

Carroll County Democrats.

Carrollton, Ga., April 9.—(Special)—Hon. S. E. Graw, chairman of the democratic executive committee of Carroll county, has called a meeting of the committee for the first Tuesday in May, at which time arrangements will be made for the selection of delegates to the state convention and congressional conventions.

The democrates are in dead earnest in this war against third partyism and republicanism, and they are going to make an aggressive fight. Hon. Charles S. Moses' letter to the editor of the "Daily Constitution" was printed in his favor. The constitution is a few days hence to be published.

Major Clark Lewis, the first speaker and the third partyites who have gone to work in dead earnest against the third party.

Mr. Gowan responded to the toast.

Henry Pope, a very notorious ruffian, may be hanged for the murder of his wife.

About 10 o'clock last night he attacked her at his home, 15 Morton street, without provocation and beat the woman until she lay unconscious. When he struck her with his fist, he struck her with such force that she died.

He believed Mr. Cleveland to be the man whom the democracy should center upon to insure success.

Mr. F. H. Richardson, Mr. B. M. Blackburn and Judge George Hillyer made short speeches.

They each made references to the third party, and said that the energies of the democracy should be directed toward crushing the movement in its incipiency.

Nearly Killed His Wife.

And Then Cut Through His Pursuers, and Though Shot At, Escapes.

Henry Pope, a very notorious ruffian, may be hanged for the murder of his wife.

RAILROAD NEWS.

East Tennessee, Queen and Crescent and Monon May Combine.

8,000 MILES IN ONE SYSTEM.

The Central's Permanent Officials Will Not Be Announced Until Next Month—General Gossip.

There is no end to the possible railroad combinations and how much probability there is in the latest report it is hard to tell.

At all events minor railroad officials are asking one another what there is in the report that the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, the Queen and Crescent, the Monon, the Louisville Southern and the Kentucky and Indiana Bridge Company are going into a system.

Vice Presidents Felton and Fink have been out over some of the properties and their trip is said to have direct connection with this plan. A telegram from Louisville states as a positive fact that negotiations are not pending and are about to be settled whereby the lines mentioned above will consolidate, forming a powerful north and south through system.

General Sam Thomas is president of the Monon route and was the power in the East Tennessee and Queen and Crescent until the reorganization plan was prepared for the Richmond Terminal's properties. Under pressure from the First National bank party of New York, General Thomas stepped down from his prominent position in the First Terminal of the Terminal. From the first it was stated that if Faham stock and his associates of the First National bank could not handle the East Tennessee in reorganizing the finances of the Terminal they would drop it and devote their energies exclusively to the Richmond and Danville system in which they have some.

General Manager W. H. McDowell, of the Monon, is accompanying General Thomas who is also on a trip out over the southern roads. It is reported in Chicago that Mr. McDowell is to be at the head of the operating department of the new system if the consolidation is perfected. C. H. Hudson is the First Terminal's general manager and R. Carroll is the Queen and Crescent's general manager.

The East Tennessee's mileage is 1,800, the Queen and Crescent's 458, the Monon's 557 and the Louisville Southern's 133, making a total of 3,882. By consolidating these roads the owners would get a thorough line of travel to Brunswick by way of Atlanta, and another from Chicago to New Orleans. Such a system would be a very important one.

The fact that Thomas and Brice are understood to be disgruntled at the Faham stock-Oakman party now running the Terminal's affairs, gives an air of probability to the gossip and also the consolidation of the other roads. All the railroad people are discussing the report and the East Tennessee officials are wondering what there is in it.

LUXURIOUS TRAVELING.

The New York Central Is Leading the World in Passenger Service.

The New York Central, Hudson River railroad is giving passenger service which is unequalled. Its fast trains are attracting the attention of railway managers the world over.

When it put on the Empire State express from New York to Niagara Falls, a few months ago, the Endless papers devoted columns to it. George H. Daniels, the general passenger agent, is making a magnificent record. The New York Central is the only railroad connected with the transportation of passengers is unrivaled. The New York and Chicago limited is celebrated on the old continent and abroad as an epoch in luxury of travel. The hushed smoking and reading room car is furnished with elegantly upholstered, movable chairs, tables, writing desks and other conveniences, and completely supplied with daily newspapers and magazines, and with choice wines, liquors and cigars.

The latest quotations of the New York and Chicago limited are as follows: The fare is $100 and the sleeping car $15 per day.

It is not what its proprietors say, but what Hood's Sanatorium does that makes itself, and has given it such a firm and lasting hold upon the confidence of the people.

vice president, John Gill, Baltimore; treasurer, Herman Myers; secretary, Marmanus; Hamilton Sartorius.

The directors are: B. A. Denmark, Herman Myers, H. M. Comer, T. F. Stubbs, W. B. Stillwell, J. H. Estill, Samuel Weinhard, John Flannery, Savannah; John Gill, D. K. Fisher, Andrew Reid, Baltimore; A. C. Haskell, Columbia; Charles Watkins, Richmond.

The company was reported to be doing well.

HOLDING OFF YET.

Changes Must Be Made in the Depot Plans.

Macon, Ga., April 10.—(Special)—Another delay has come in the movement to rebuild the union depot in this city. The officials here have been notified to hold off a few days before letting the contract, as the chief engineer was contemplating certain changes in the plans of the building.

It is supposed these changes were brought about by the granting of a forty-foot encroachment by the council a few days ago, allowing the depot to be extended that distance.

Colonel Wren's Latest "Ad."

The East Tennessee will distribute 10,000 copies of Bill Nye's "Remarks." Nye's selections make entertaining reading to most people at any time and to nearly all people when traveling. Copies can be obtained by sending 25 cents in stamps for postage to B. W. Wren, general publisher and ticket agent, Knoxville. "Remarks" by Bill Nye contains 504 pages with 250 illustrations.

Roads Under Water.

Birmingham, Ala., April 10.—(Special)—There is no improvement in the situation with respect to railroads, tracks, and the Alabama Great Southern is running its trains around by Selma to get by a washout near Tuscaloosa. The Kansas City, Memphis and St. Louis has been unable to get trains through, and the Pacific, the west, can get no further than Columbus. Other roads are having no trouble.

A Loose Tire Causes a Wreck.

Cannelleille, Pa., April 10.—A disastrous wreck occurred four miles north of this place yesterday afternoon on the Pittsburgh, McKeesport and Youngstown railroad, in which a locomotive and tender and a man named W. E. Lazell were instantly killed. The wreck was caused by a loose tire on one of the drivers of the engine. Engineer Richard Martin was also seriously injured and may die.

Superintendent Winder Arrives.

Superintendent Winder, his secretary Mr. Paul, and Mr. Ivy, the train dispatcher of the Georgia, Carolina and Northern, were taken to quarters in Atlanta. They will soon get in their handsome offices in the Equitable building. The Georgia, Carolina and Northern's passenger and freight depots at Edgewood are in course of erection.

The Scrap Heap.

The National Freight Agents' Association will hold its annual meeting in Louisville on April 12. The members of the association represent all the railroads of the country. The former's very existence is threatened.

T. A. Price, of the Chicago and Northwestern's general freight department, has issued a "Guide and Flora" book which gives the rates on grain from nearly several points to Chicago. The book contains the amendments and corrections for one year. It is highly spoken of by traffic men and shippers.

Major F. K. Huger, superintendent of the East Tennessee and Ohio and North Carolina division of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, was in Atlanta yesterday.

It is not what its proprietors say, but what Hood's Sanatorium does that makes itself, and has given it such a firm and lasting hold upon the confidence of the people.

The Lecture of Mr. Reeves, and Some Pertinent Comments About People You Know.

The Gillet Chautauqua League held an interesting "Evening with Lanier" in the room of the school of history and literature, on Thursday evening, while the inclement weather kept many away who would otherwise have been there, those who did attend returned to their homes with a deepened love for the lamented Lanier. Miss Bunnell Love, the secretary of the league, presented a very full and authentic sketch of the poet's life, picturing most graphically the tenders, pains, and noble efforts of that beautiful heroic life.

Mr. C. P. Williamson, of the Girls' High school, told the league of the weirdness in the shadows and glooms of the gray-mossed groves and other scenes as described by Lanier in his "Marsches of Glynn." The chautauqua were lead in the singing of the spirited chautauqua songs by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Williamson, and Mr. Williams, the distinguished Mason from Ohio, gave his personal old manuscripts, and the like, to the library, and other early inventions of the printing press. He exhibited, too, his rare fac-simile copies of the old manuscripts now in the British museum, for which favors the league extended most grateful thanks.

In the business session of the league it was decided to defer the Sunday vesper service until Easter. The regular chautauqua service will therefore be held at the Christian church on Easter Sunday, at 4 o'clock p. m. Soon after the Hayne meeting will be held at the same place. ***

One of the prettiest and most elaborate weddings that has ever occurred in Columbus was that which united Miss Martha Shellman, of Columbus, Ga., and Mr. Davis Freeman, of Savannah, on Tuesday evening last. A large number of friends and relatives from all over the south were in attendance.

A special train from Savannah carried up the groom, Mr. Freeman, and his party on Monday afternoon, which consisted of a score or more of friends of both bride and groom. The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. Dr. Carter in the presence of a large audience in the First Baptist church, the most impressive-looking interior.

The church was artistically decorated with rare hothouse plants and tropical flowers. Mr. Davis Freeman, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Miss Annie Shellman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Messrs. H. H. Bacon, of Savannah; A. H. Lane, of Brunswick; El Swift, of Columbus, and John D. Nell, of Athens, were the ushers. The attendants were as follows: Miss Eva Moore, of Columbus, with Mr. J. D. Carswell, of Savannah; Miss Sallie Shellman, of Columbus, with Mr. George W. Chapman, of Savannah; Miss Annie Springer, of Columbus, with Mr. W. L. Clay, of Savannah; Miss Georgia Freeman, of Savannah, with Mr. M. G. Stewart, of Savannah; Miss Alma Williams, of Atlanta, with Mr. W. T. Hopkins, of Savannah; and Miss Jennie Thomas, of Savannah, with Dr. Curtis Carter, of New York. After the marriage ceremony was performed a reception was held at the beautiful home of the bride's parents on Eleventh street. The bride wore an elegant gown of tan silk, with a wide border of natural orange blossoms. The bride is the second daughter of Major W. F. Shellman, formerly general traffic manager of the Central railroad, but who is at present general manager of the City Club Southern. Miss Shellman is one of Georgia's most cultured and accomplished young ladies. Her beauty and social attainments have made her the center of much attention since her debut in society. She is noted for her wit, humor and cleverness, and is a universal favorite wherever she is known. Mr. Freeman, the groom, is the second son of Mr. George G. Freeman, cashier of the Citizens' bank of Savannah. Mr. Freeman is well known in Atlanta society. He is one of the most versatile young business men of Savannah, being the junior partner of the insurance firm of John S. Wheaton & Co., of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman are now stopping at the Ponce de Leon hotel in St. Augustine, where they will remain for several days before taking their departure for Cuba. After their return they will reside in Savannah, the home of the groom. ***
